

Andromedia

The beings from Andromedia have bodies that are made up from the stars that make up the spirals that are the Andromedian galaxy. Imagine giant light beings, resembling very light angels. If you look closely you will see that their bodies are made up of stars. It is as if their whole body is made up of a complex light meridian system. On each point there is a star. They are not static, they move continually in spiralling patterns. The Andromedian galaxy radiates from the heart centre. Their job is to hold this system in perfect balance and movement. They are not only responsible for the holding of their system but they are the hub of a giant wheel that extends out into the surrounding universe. If you take a 1 to 12 dimensional model, they are on the eighth dimension. The eighth dimension is the dimension of infinity. The continual spinning of this system holds the universe in the continual motion of infinity. The image of the snake eating its own tail comes to mind, the classic infinity symbol. Their job is to hold the local space in motion and continual renewal. They are the recycling professionals of this local space. All the emanations from the surrounding stars and planets are pulled into your system, dark energies or shall we say imbalanced energies are filtered through your consciousness to be balanced and purified before they are sent out in the next turn of the wheel.

There is no judgement against these dark energies; beings on this level do not have the concept of judgement. They do not have a mind, as we would perceive it; they are like the workings of the universe. If you connect with them through dance and movement, move in gentle spirals, very similar to the dance of the whirling dervishes, you can access their energy and clear other people's bodies and places of negative energies. If you call in their energy and very gently spiral around and around, you pull the negative energies from people's bodies and recycle them into light. You must align yourself with the Andromedian consciousness completely, otherwise you could take on their negativity. You will know when you have aligned as you will feel a very gentle spiralling feeling in your upper chest. You can also clear rooms and places this way. You can do this in sacred sites in your local area. Go to the places you feel have stagnated in energy and perform your gentle dance, aligning with the Andromedian consciousness and clear negativity and raise the frequency of the place through your Andromedian self. You can also use this method to create star gates and portals for higher beings to come and take residence in the places of your choosing. Many people think there are only certain places on the planet that are sacred, you could make any place sacred with this technology.

Beings from Andromedia cannot incarnate into one singular body even if it is a fifth dimensional light body, so they incarnate into twelve separate yet unified beings. The Andromedian self drops down through the dimensions to finally reside on the fifth dimension as twelve beings making up a soul group. These beings looked very human, but are without sexual identity. Their bodies vibrate at the speed of light and appear as a fifth dimensional body, which resembles a form we are more used to. They are about five feet tall, blond almost white hair, cut very short, pale light skin and the most beautiful turquoise eyes. They were very beautiful.

They are not in polarity in any form so therefore they have no separation of the sexes. They are individual but they are extremely telepathic and of one consciousness. They are responsible for performing complex high consciousness rituals to anchor these Andromedian energies on the fifth dimension. They use crystal balls, which they spin, in their hands around and around to anchor in these high frequencies.
